

Climate Story Collection Form

We're collecting climate stories from everyday people across Minnesota. Why? Our stories move people. They show the breadth and depth of the movement for equitable clean energy solutions in Minnesota. They are how we get to scale and how we move people to do more.

Everyone has a climate story. What is your story?

How have you experienced climate change in your own life?

Ex. Be concrete & specific, is it in your family, at work, at school, in your neighborhood, in wilderness?

With these experiences, how do you feel about climate change?

Ex. When do you feel anxious / hopeful / angry / confused / connected?

How can you build power to make change?

Ex. What are you willing / hungry to do? What have you done? What do we need to do together?

Who would we be as Minnesotans if we did that together?

Ex. What kind of state would we be? How would we treat each other? Who would be front & center?
